Smooth shapes form a clean silhouette, which is particularly well for modern interiors.

by Levantin design

overview p. 107

The Tuttu collection consists of an armchair and a sofa, which can be made in different colors.

The Levantin studio design approach can be described as WOW in your space.

Wox

overview p. 108-109

The design was created based on the silhouette of a running ox, which later affected the name (Wild Ox). In addition to the stylish and current design, these models can be stackable, and this significantly simplifies the conditions of storage and transportation.

Available in different colours.

overview p. 109

The design of a new product in Wox family was based on Wox 2 chair, this model, we were trying to make a chair for home interiors especially.

Chairs are stackable and available in 2 colors, black and natural ash-tree.

by Pavel Vetrov

Wox flat

The main idea of Wox Flat is to provide a low cost and easy way of shipping to the customers.

by Pavel Vetrov

Katana

overview p. 110

The shapes and patterns in the Katana collection were inspired by traditional Japanese katana sword and kimono dress. These two unique seating options offer comfort and harmony with peaceful touch of Zen style to your space.

37

The main criteria in the design of the model were a universal design, which can be easily used in interiors of different styles, as well as special reliability and usability of the design.

overview p. 112

Lover is a new family of armchairs and bar stools by Spanish designer Pablo Regano, which consists of 3 pieces: an armchair, a bar stool, and a lounge chair. Pablo was inspired to create this collection by Colombian artist Fernando Botero's paintings and sculptures, namely his painting "Lovers".

Beechwood base, metal frame,

by Pablo Regano

Lover

The disproportions of the objects in Batero's work were extrapolated into the design of the furniture, giving the items of the collection a pleasing curvaceous shape and a special softness and comfort in use.

by Pablo Regano

Collection consists of bar stool, arm chair and office armchair. All the items can be produced in various colors.

Beads

overview p. 113

Beads is a new table collection by Ukrainian designer Pavel Vetrov. The main idea was to use a simple small form of craft wooden beads in furniture. The natural pattern of ashwood supplements these items and makes them friendly and ecological.

Ashwood, metal

by Pavel Vetrov

The modern Scandinavian design of these tables is well suitable for contemporary interiors of restaurants, offices as well as homes. The base of the tables is made from solid wood and the countertop is touched up with a natural plywood-veneer.

Ashwood, metal

by Pavel Vetrov

Porto

The Porto workie table was developed by the designer Pavel Vetrov and the Artu design bureau. The visual inspiration for the creation of the table was the picturesque bridges of the Portuguese city, and the ergonomic ones were calculated based on the characteristics of the modern lifestyle.

Porto is made from solid ashwood and available in 2 colors, natural and black.

by Pavel Vetrov

Porto collection

The table is designed specifically to make it comfortable to use a computer while sitting on a sofa or in a lounge chair.

Lega tables are designed for outdoor use and are highly resistant to water and sun

Duran

The main idea behind the creation of the chair was the desire to combine the current trends in the design loft and mid-century in one product. At the same time, a special attention was paid to the quality of parts and materials.

Metal frame, oak veneer plywood

by Figuron

The shapes and ergonomics of Duran were designed in such a way that the chair can become not only a comfortable seating position in the areas, but also a visual dominance in the interior.

At the request of the client, the Duran lounge chair can be made in various colors

Noook

The name Noook was formed from English word nook. Noook is the collection of privacy-encouraging office furniture intended to provide a creative solution that allows businesses to maintain popular open space design while respecting people's need for occasional privacy or closeted intimate communication.

Noook collection consists of three items. Each of them can be made in three different sizes.

Contemporary design and good ergonomics either perfectly fit for offices or libraries or easily can be placed in a home as an interesting room divider.
